QUEENSTOWN HARBOR

Land Development & Lot-Monetization Partnership

Entitling and monetizing the developable land around the River & Lakes courses

Queenstown, Maryland · Eastern Shore · 36 holes on the Chesapeake

Preliminary discussion document — not a final proposal or commitment. Figures compiled from public sources and independent research; subject to change and confirmation in further conversations.

THE OPPORTUNITY

You just bought it. Now monetize the land.

Bob — Capital H6 just closed Queenstown Harbor. The resort runs itself; the upside is the developable land around the 36 holes — entitle it, sell lots to builders, recycle the proceeds.

Builders fund the horizontal infrastructure

WHY NOW

You own it free and clear — Capital H6 just closed the purchase.

Fresh, low basis: $25M for two courses across 870+ acres — the land value is the upside.

Builders fund sewer, roads and utilities — you carry approvals, not construction risk.

Minutes over the Bay Bridge to Annapolis; ~1 hour to D.C. & Baltimore.

Golf and water frontage on the Chesapeake commands a premium — and sells quickly.

THE ASSET

Queenstown Harbor, by the numbers.

A 36-hole waterfront destination on Maryland's Eastern Shore — acquired from The Brick Companies in May 2026, with established golf, an event venue and cottages already in place.

ALREADY IN PLACE

An operating resort — not a raw land play.

River House & Tavern — newly renovated wedding, event and corporate venue.

On-site cottages — existing overnight lodging and a hospitality base.

36 holes of championship golf since 1991 — traffic, brand and demand already here.

198 acres under permanent conservation — stewardship credibility, and an envelope to plan around.

PROVENANCE & HISTORY

Four centuries to a 36-hole resort.

A colonial land grant, a dairy farm, and ~30 years of Brick Companies stewardship — the land you now own through Capital H6 carries real provenance, and a conservation ethic to plan around.

Era	Milestone	What happened
1600s	“My Lord’s Gift”	Surveyor Henry deCoursey is granted the tract by Cecil Calvert, 2nd Lord Baltimore — remembered for centuries as the “thumb grant” (the property’s own lore).
1970s	Dairy farm acquired	The Brick Companies — a private Maryland firm founded 1892 — buys the working farm to open its land and wildlife to the public as golf.
1991	River Course opens	Lindsay Ervin’s design debuts along the Chester River; a construction-era archaeological dig preserves millions of artifacts (Maryland Historical Trust).
1996	36 holes complete	The Lakes Course is added — reaching today’s two-course, par-72 / par-71 waterfront resort on the Chesapeake.
May 2026	Capital H6 acquires	Accountable Equity / VIVÂMEE buy Queenstown Harbor (with South River) for ~$25M from The Brick Companies — your fresh, low basis.

Four centuries of provenance, ~30 years of Brick Companies stewardship — now a freshly acquired, low-basis asset under Capital H6.

The upside is the land around the golf.

The resort operates; the value-creation is entitling the developable, non-conservation acreage and selling finished lots to homebuilders. Capital-light, and additive to the hospitality.

870+ ac	Portfolio land Across Queenstown + South River
198 ac	Under conservation Permanent easement at Queenstown — plan around it
Net	Developable land Balance after conservation, wetlands & course (to verify)
Lots	Entitle & sell Finished lots to regional homebuilders

THE THESIS

Monetize the land the golf doesn't need.

Identify developable parcels at the course edges — away from conservation, wetlands and play.

Entitle for residential; sell finished lots to builders who fund the horizontal work.

Golf-frontage and water-view lots command premium pricing and faster absorption.

Recycle proceeds into the broader Capital H6 program — including South River.

THE PLAYBOOK

Four moves that turn land into cash.

Capital-light by sequence — soft costs first, then builders carry the infrastructure and construction risk, and the proceeds recycle into the next parcel.

01

Entitle

Approvals for lots

Secure zoning and subdivision approvals for the developable acreage around the fairways.

02

Sell to Builders

Finished lots → homebuilders

Sell entitled lots to regional builders and let them fund sewer, roads and utilities.

03

Golf & Water Premium

Frontage sells higher

Lots on a course or with Chesapeake water views command a premium and absorb faster.

04

Recycle & Repeat

Parcel by parcel

Roll proceeds into the next parcel — and seed the broader Capital H6 program.

Move 01 is mostly soft costs — the fastest path to proof, and to first cash.

THE MATH · ILLUSTRATIVE

From 700 acres to the developable envelope.

Built down from real constraints — the recorded conservation easement, the golf footprint, and Maryland's Chesapeake Bay Critical Area. Developable acreage is survey-dependent; figures illustrative.

Step	Basis	Calculation	= Result
Queenstown land (gross)	per ownership estimate	—	~700 ac
Less permanent conservation	recorded easement	700 - 198	502 ac
Less golf, range, water & lodging	two 18s + 9-ac range + cottages	502 - ~300	~200 ac
Less Critical Area & wetlands	Chesapeake 1,000-ft zone	200 - ~60	~140 ac
Net developable → lots	~2.0 lots / acre	140 × 2.0	~280 lots
FINISHED LOT VALUE (net, illustrative)	$150K / lot, less ~30% costs	280 × $150K × 0.70	≈ $29M

≈ $29M illustrative net from ~140 developable acres — net of conservation & Critical Area, additive to the resort.

WHY IT SELLS

These lots sell — here's why.

Course and water frontage, Bay Bridge proximity, and builder appetite for entitled lots all push price and absorption. We're meeting demand that already exists.

Driver	Detail	Why it lifts value
Golf & water frontage	Lots on the River / Lakes courses & Chester River	Premium pricing and faster absorption vs. a raw subdivision
Bay Bridge location	Minutes to Annapolis; ~1 hr to D.C. & Baltimore	Commuter, second-home and weekend demand from three metros
Chesapeake scarcity	Limited new waterfront-adjacent lots on the Shore	High barriers → durable, premium lot values
Builder appetite	Regional homebuilders want entitled / finished lots	They pay to avoid entitlement risk — and fund the infrastructure
Fresh owned basis	$25M for 870+ ac just closed	Low land basis → development margin starts higher

Sources (own research; subject to change & confirmation): distance-cities.com · Queen Anne's Co. — Critical Area

Demand is already here — we're entitling supply to meet it, not creating a market.

THE SISTER ASSET

South River — the Annapolis-side anchor.

Acquired in the same $25M Capital H6 deal: an established 18-hole private club near Annapolis with 600+ member families — a membership and events engine, and the next place to run the playbook.

One platform, two assets

THE ANGLE

Membership and events first; land where diligence supports it.

600+ member families — recurring dues, plus an events / dining base to grow.

Annapolis-side, west of the Bay — an affluent, supply-constrained catchment.

The Bistro, fitness, simulator lounge & range already drive non-golf revenue.

Assess limited parcel entitlement without disturbing the member experience.

CAPITAL STRATEGY

Capital-light by design.

The land bank barely needs capital: soft costs to entitle, then builders fund the horizontal work and buy the lots. Cash in is small; proceeds come fast.

$1–3M

Soft costs to start

Entitlements, planning & approvals

Land

= the equity

Acreage held by Capital H6 — already acquired

THE PRINCIPLE

You carry approvals, not construction.

Builders take the infrastructure burden — sewer, roads, utilities — and pay for finished lots. Your cash at risk stays small and staged.

Phase	Approach	Your capital	Who funds
Phase 1 — Entitle	Approvals for lots	$1–3M	JAL + H6 dev co (skin in the game)
Phase 2 — Builder takedown	Horizontal + lot purchase	~$0 to you	Regional homebuilder funds & buys
Phase 3 — Recycle	Proceeds redeployed	Self-funding	Next parcel / South River / H6 program

Minimal capital at risk — and the land bank seeds everything that comes after.

CAPITAL ACCESS

I bring the capital relationships.

When a parcel does call for equity or debt — or to move faster — here's the access. Active mandates, not a paper Rolodex.

$15M

Equity being raised now

Houston retail — family-office capital, closing summer 2026

$19.5M

Debt already secured

Lender committed on the same transaction

Mid-20s%

Target development IRR

Investors expect mid-to-high 20s out-of-state

$6.1B

Career transaction volume

Across debt & equity — Blackstone + Levcor

THE NETWORK

Where I place capital — equity and debt.

Family offices (Texas) — my core equity base; they'll travel for the right risk-adjusted return.

Institutional equity — Angelo Gordon and peer private-equity relationships.

National debt — Goldman Sachs (met two weeks ago; national platform, Dallas team) + specialty lenders.

The bar for out-of-state development is mid-to-high-20s IRR — the fresh land basis helps clear it.

THE STRUCTURE

A vehicle inside the H6 platform.

Capital H6 owns the land. Spin the developable parcels into a land-development entity — H6 contributes the acreage as equity; JAL co-invests and runs entitlement, capital and lot sales alongside your team.

JAL Strategies

Capital, entitlement & sales — co-invests

JAL takes skin in the game — co-investing alongside, not just advising.

How I'd want to be engaged.

You asked how I'd like to be comped. My preference matches yours — a small base to fund the work, then real alignment on the value we create. For discussion only.

Hybrid

$15K/mo + expenses, then success fees + carry

Aligned to lot-sale value created — not a flat consulting check.

Skin in the game

Component	Terms	What it covers
Advisory retainer	$15K / mo	Funds entitlement, underwriting & capital sourcing during an initial term; creditable against success fees
Expenses	Reimbursed at cost	Travel, survey, market & entitlement studies — billed separately, not netted from fees
Capital placement fee	1% debt · 2–3% equity	Success fee if and when we place debt or equity for a parcel
Carried interest	Co-GP promote	Share of value created on lot sales; JAL co-invests its own capital alongside

The structure flexes to the deal — the point is alignment: I win when you win.

WHY JAL AS YOUR PARTNER

Pedigree. Relationships. Operator.

Institutional capital-markets pedigree, an active investor network, and hands-on development & asset-management experience.

THE PATH

From this call to a signed mandate.

Light and fast to start — diligence now, an in-person while I'm in the Northeast in July, then a defined engagement on the first parcels.

STAGE 1

DILIGENCE & DATA

Now – July · Review & analysis

- Confirm developable vs. conservation acreage (survey + easements)
- Pull entitlement & zoning status (Queen Anne's County)
- Model lot yield & absorption for the developable parcels
- Confirm the H6 ownership & contribution mechanics

STAGE 2

IN PERSON

July 2026 · Walk the site

- Meet while I'm in the NY / Philly area — train down or drive to the Shore
- Walk Queenstown (River House & the course edges)
- Meet Josh / VIVÂMEE
- Align on first parcels, capital plan & comp

STAGE 3

MANDATE

H2 2026 · Engage & execute

- Stand up the land vehicle under Capital H6
- Launch Phase 1 entitlements + soft-cost budget
- Open regional-homebuilder conversations
- First entitled-lot sales underwritten

What I need to sharpen the model: survey / plat & conservation easements · entitlement & zoning status · H6 structure · target timeline.

THANK YOU

Bob — appreciate the call, and the résumé read.

Looking forward to monetizing the land around Queenstown Harbor with you, Josh and the H6 team — let's find time in July.
